Hope Teams Win 2 of 3 Over Emmet

Friday night three Hope teams went to Emmet and came away with two victories.

The Kittycats defeated the Emmet Junior girls 33 to 25. Jo McKamie made 16 points and negotiated The Star's purchase; and Wesley Phillips of Atlanta, Ga., Fairchild engineer who is completing installation and adjustment of The Star press.

Washburn, Star's editor-publisher, published the Hattiesburg (Miss.) American, sold it and bought and consolidated the Blytheville (Ark.) papers as the Courier News, but returned to Mississippi to convert the West Point weeklies into the present daily Times Leader.

THE WELL CHILD Imperfect Vision Plagues Many Preschool Children

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Few people realize that 25 per cent of children of preschool age have imperfect vision. Often this is correctable when it is discovered early but, since the preschool child has no way of knowing what his vision should be, he cannot tell you he needs help.

The National Society for the Prevention of Blindness therefore urges all parents to have tests made of their children's vision before they are three years old.

Even the child who appears to have excellent vision may be seeing with only one eye. Because the brain of the cross-eyed child receives a double image he learns to ignore one image and concentrate on the other. This weakens the vision in the eye supplying the ignored image—a condition called lazy-eye blindness.

But crossed eyes are not the only cause of a double image. Refractive errors and muscle imbalance not severe enough to cause crossed eyes are others. Unless the condition is treated in the first few years of life it cannot be remedied.

Some clues to poor vision in your preschool child are squinting, scowling, blinking, frequent stumbling, reaching for an object and missing it, lack of interest in distant objects, rubbing the eyes,

HELEN HELP US!

—by Helen Bottel—

Make Them Pay!
Dear Helen: I have an unusual hobby for a woman — long distance flying. I pilot my plane all over the United States, and sometimes farther; and have flown in most parts of Europe. Naturally, this leads to movies and slides.

I'm happy to show these for food friends, but it seems they have broadcasted the fact that I am "available" as a speaker. I've carted my equipment sometimes as far as 100 miles — and I don't even get a thank-you letter. Sometimes they come through with a corsage. Mostly it's a perfunctory "Thank you, Mrs. S., and now we'll get to the business meeting..." And then the next week, I get Another invitation.

This is all very flattering, but I have no time to plan my next trip. What do you do when you are not a "No" person, and you are too much in demand?

Dear Marge: Charge! The free-loaders will then say "No" for you, and fees from the solvent will help finance your next trip. — H.

Dear Helen: My parents always frowned on my dating. They hated each other and both of them told me (privately) that being married is miserable. After my father died, I dated a girl secretly for five years, but I never even kissed her, and she finally got tired of waiting. I was brought up to think I was stupid, but I can hold a job and get good wages. (I guess I am stupid, because I did what I was told, believed everything my mother said, and, though I was lonely without a girl, I tried not to let it bother me.

I have met a very fine woman who is a widow. I would like to ask her to marry me, but I know my mother, who is 76, would hit the roof. She says I can't manage for myself and so I have always lived with her. I don't think these two would get along in the same house, but don't you think it's time I made my own decisions? I am just 14 years from retirement age. — George

P.S. The widow owns her own home. She said the other day it would sure be nice to have a man in it, so I think she'll have me.

Dear George: Why don't you ask her? You've let someone else run your life long enough! — H.

P.S. Of course you may be merely exchanging one boss for another, but don't let THAT bother you. Most men do — and you, especially, will be happier this way. — H.

More Than The Bare Necessities

Dear Helen: Notice you know about this "topless waitress" jazz in the West. I wanted to see for myself whether these "$100 a day in tips" gals were worth it. So I wandered down from the hills into a "topless" joint to place an order for a turkey dinner.

I gave thanks that the festive bird was not as though as those topless chickens fluttering around the place. From the size of their chests and as tough as they looked they must have been a cross between pouter pigeons and those Hell's Angels we hear so much about.

Anyway, I bought my women folk some new blouses and hurried back to the mountains where it doesn't cost so much to gase at the white peaks.

Conclusion: Next time I'll go to Joe's Diner. — P.R.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen Help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of Hope Star.

Men, Planes Hit Viet Cong Installations

(AP)—Allied troops and U.S. planes knocked out hidden Viet Cong installations in widely separated areas in the past 48 hours, but the Communists struck back tonight with two terrorist attacks in Saigon.

Terrorists exploded a mine outside the Saigon airport and blew up a police substation in the eastern part of the city, killing at least two Vietnamese. Three American servicemen and three Vietnamese were wounded in the attack at the airport.

It was the new year's first terrorism in Saigon, which was hit by a flurry of grenade-throwing incidents aimed at U.S. troops during the celebration of the Viet Cong's fifth birthday last month.

The U.S. 173rd Airborne Brigade, pushing through the steamy swamplands west of Saigon, uncovered a network of Communist bunkers filled with ammunition and supplies as the Viet Cong fell back before the American paratroopers.

The paratroopers blew up the fortifications on the sixth day of the first U.S. invasion in strength of the Mekong Delta, a Communist stronghold.

Other elements of the 173rd Brigade came on what one U.S. spokesman called a Viet Cong "general store" near the marshy Plain of Reeds, a Red stronghold and infiltration route close to the Cambodian frontier.

The paratroopers captured two guards. One of them carried several ounces of gold and 11,000 piasters, possibly part of a guerrilla payroll. The cash was worth only about $150 but was a considerable amount in Vietnamese terms.

Something New in Big City Schools

Behind this pleasing exterior, the students of Brooklyn's P. S. 45 find a colorful beehive of isolated activity, designed to mean education and opportunity to them.

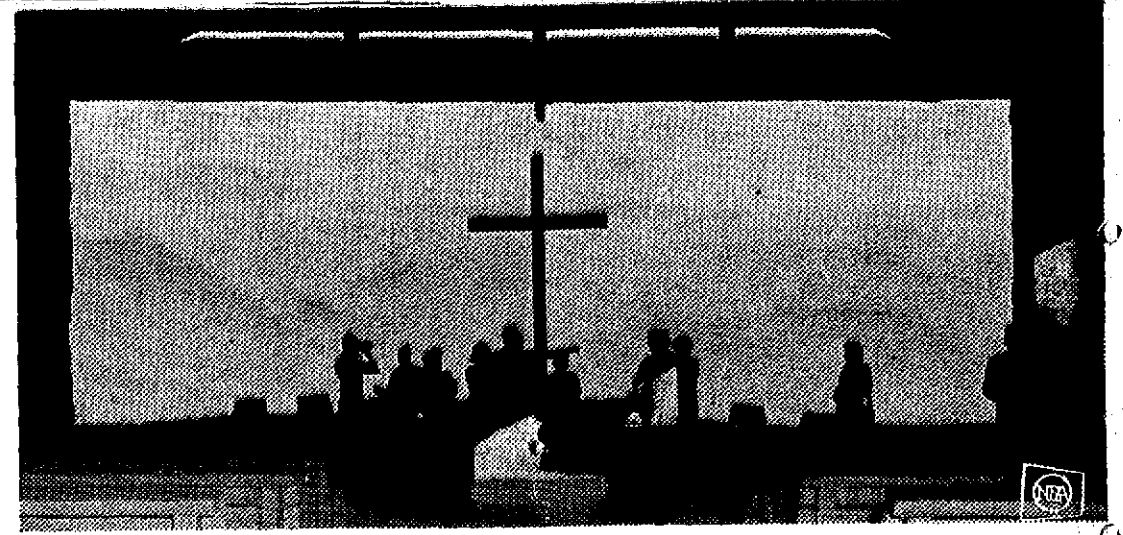

P. S. 45 in Brooklyn is a school which may start a trend. As conceived by Morris Kelchum Jr. and Associates, the architects, a midcity grade school should be a little world of its own, isolated from its neighborhood. Entering in the morning, the children start six-and-a-half hours in a clean, bright, stimulating world, a delight to the eye as well as the mind. The school is built looking inward on two courtyards. There are no exterior windows, thus discouraging vandalism and shutting out street noises and distractions. There are expanses of orange bricks, contrasted with sections in tan and beige. Color is everywhere. Another innovation, the efficient lunchroom for the 1,600 students is equipped only for heating and serving frozen foods.

Classrooms open onto courtyards, are light and airy.

BARRIE'S BACK—Dancer Barrie Chase, showing a lot of back in a slinky costume, is back with Fred Astaire for a television date. The two are teamed for a number called "Pussycat" for "The Hollywood Palace" showing on ABC-TV Jan. 22.

JUST BEAUTY: Visitors are invariably awed by the expanse of scenic grandeur offered by an outdoor chapel in the Blue Ridge mountains of South Carolina.

They Call It 'Pretty Place'

By PAUL JONES

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

CAMP GREENVILLE, S. C.—(N E A)—There is at first only a gray stone wall, the face of the chapel, at the end of the winding road atop Standing Stone mountain.

Then, above the chapel's open door, a stout oak beam bears the inscription: "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills..."

Inside, beyond the beamed roof and the rows of wooden pews, beyond the massive stone pillars with their inscribed quotations from the Bible, is a simple wooden pulpit and a large wooden cross.

And beyond the cross, unhindered by walls, is a panorama of incredible beauty—range after range of the Blue Ridge mountains in a 50-mile vista stretching as far as the eye can see.

It is formally known as Symmes Chapel. Folks around here simply call it "Pretty Place."

The rustic little wayside chapel was built in 1928 by mountain people. It is maintained by the Greenville YMCA through an endowment by the Fred W. Symmes family.

Thousands of visitors of all faiths come to Pretty Place each year. They find it beautiful the year round—in the splendor of fall and winter, in the freshness of a mountain spring and summer.

And always, they stand silent in their private thoughts. They say they come away refreshed.

A 14-year-old boy, dying of leukemia, told his mother, "I keep seeing that beautiful scenery at the mountain chapel."

One young man, a frequent visitor to Pretty Place, wrote:

"You can see why it is called 'Pretty Place' by those who know it well."

"But I wonder if you have ever seen it at a clear, cool night. Standing at the front of the open chapel in the clean, crisp mountain air, with the lights of the Piedmont twinkling below, virgin mountain land and timber around you and star-filled heavens above, you can really understand why 'Pretty Place' spreads a warmth and peace that very few places can bring."

Thousands come here, but they are a relative handful to the numbers who travel to a Niagara Falls or a Lookout Mountain. For Pretty Place is unique among tourist attractions.

There is no admission fee, no barker, no attendant, nothing to buy. It is not ballyhooed by billboards and bumper stickers.

But somehow people find it.

NFL Eyeing Pay-TV?

Six years ago the clubs of the National Football League, acting singly, had television contracts totalling $1.2 million. That's when Pete Rozelle became commissioner of the National Football League. Now, with the package deal he instituted, they'll make $18.8 million a year for the next two years, with CBS exercising an option for a third if it can stand the cost per minute. . . .

"I think it's a better contract for CBS than the last one," says Dick Bailey, boss man of Sports Network, the independent outfit which figured in Rozelle's auxiliary plan if CBS didn't bite for the big chunk. . . .

That's because CBS now goes into all the major markets on every Sunday, plus a bundle of additional games like the afternoon-evening Thanksgiving bill. Why didn't Rozelle push for a longer term deal, since who knows what the economy will be in a couple of years? Because fellows like Bailey suspect the aggressive commissioner has pay-TV in the back of his mind and doesn't want to be tied down. . . .

Only one case of sour grapes from Green Bay after the NFL title game. After Jimmy Taylor was awarded the car by SPORT as the game's top performer, Paul Hornung (who could easily have received it himself) grouched, "Them not picking Bart Starr is ridiculous." . . . When Vince Lombardi credited the older Packers for convincing Texas Tech's Donny Anderson he ought to sign with Green Bay, he didn't tell all of it. Hornung told the kid who could be the biggest threat to ease him out of a job it ought to be written in his contract the Packers be required to send Donny to Europe for a month with Golden Boy. They got to be big buddies during Anderson's visit in Baltimore to see the Packers play. . . .

Donny, who still had the Gator Bowl to play at the time said he paid his own way up. You can be sure he was reimbursed. Incidentally, the cocky Texan wasn't exactly a hit with the deb set at the Gator shindig. . . .

Title game leftovers: Jesse Whitenton, who retired as a defensive back with the Packers, was up from El Paso with his 10-gallon hat. He runs his own golf course there. "I retired one year too soon," he sighed. . . . Jimmy Brown, coming off the field to receive his Jim Thorpe Trophy on the CBS pregame show, put comb and brush to his hair for 10 minutes before agreeing to go on camera. "This is show biz," he said. He needed a shave. . . .

Now the buzz from Washington is that if Bill McPeak is relieved as head coach, he won't stay on as Redskins general manager either. Pittsburgh and Atlanta posts still to be filled in NFL. St. Louis could come open, too. A natural any place—Charley Winner, the defensive coach of the Baltimore Colts. He's ready. . . .

Interested still in the Cleveland Browns fortunes? John Havlicek, the all-purpose ace of the Boston Celtics who was cut by the Browns before he ever tried pro basketball. "Only time in my life," he reminisces, "didn't make a team. I think I had better hands (he was tried as a flanker) than anybody in their whole camp but they never threw to me in practice or the one time I got in a game." . . . Blanton Collier told Havlicek the past fall, "You might have made it as a defensive back." . . .

Between you'n'me, Randy Matson, playing basketball for Texas A&M and already drafted by the football Colts, will consider no pro bids until after he throws the shot again at the 1968 Olympics at Mexico City. . . .

FUN SPOT—California residents have the prospect of a great new recreation center near San Bernardino. Two proposed dams (map above) would create a lake three times the size of Lake Arrowhead and open the way for a 6,000-acre park which would offer facilities for tenting, trailer camping, fishing, swimming and boating.

Matte, Colts Smash Dallas in the Playoff

By GEORGE BOWEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Tom Matte, who almost quarterbacked the Baltimore Colts into the National Football League championship game, led them to a 35-7 victory over Dallas Sunday in the consolation tilt. The performances pose for Coach Don Shula the problem of what to do with Matte next season.

"I don't know," said Shula. "I guess I'll have to keep the Matte offense in our play book, though."

Matte, in only his third professional game as quarterback, was voted the outstanding player in the playoff game before 65,569 in the Orange Bowl. He earned the award on his passing.

When he was first rushed into the quarterback breach because of injuries to John Unitas and Gary Cuozzo, Matte had a slim repertoire of plays, mostly running. Still the Colts defeated Los Angeles 20-17 and in a playoff for the Western Conference title lost 13-10 in overtime to Green Bay.

Matte passed 17 times against the Cowboys, completing seven. Two of them went 15 and 20 yards to Jimmy Orr for touchdowns. Two more of 37 and 52 yards set up second period touchdowns which gave Baltimore a 14-3 halftime edge.

The Cowboys, who tied for second place in the Eastern Conference by winning five of their last seven games, ran into a fierce Colt defense.

Dallas put together only one sustained drive on the passing of Don Meredith in the second quarter. The Cowboys reached the Colt four with a first down but were stopped in their tracks and Danny Villanueva kicked a 12-yard field goal.

The Cowboys reached the Colts 29 in the first period and the 31 in the third for their only other threats. They lost the ball on an interception by Jerry Logan the first time and on a fumble recovered by rookie end Roy Hilton the other time.

Bob Hayes, the Olympic sprinter who had caught 13 touchdowns, passes during the season for the Cowboys, was restricted to four catches for 24 yards.

In addition to his interception, Logan recovered a fumble on the Dallas 25 in the third quarter and fullback Jerry Hill plunged for a touchdown five plays later. Hill also boomed three yards for a second quarter touchdown after catching a 52-yard rocket from Matte.

End John Mackey's catch of a 37-yard pass from Matte set up Baltimore's first touchdown — a six-yard run by Lenny Moore — after a scoreless first period.

"I had a lot of respect before for Matte," said Shula, "but he has gained a lot more the way he reacted to our situation."

The 6-foot, 205-pounder had been a substitute halfback with the Colts for five seasons until the quarterback crisis developed.

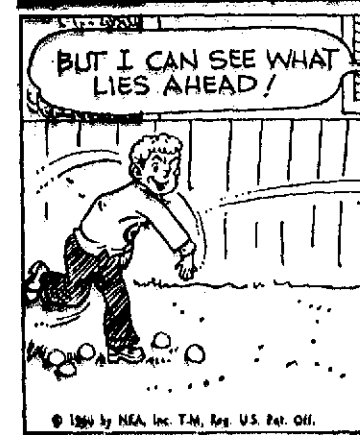

The victory by the Colts underscored mastery of Western Conference NFL teams over the Eastern this season. It was the 15th victory in 16 contests for the West.

Olympian Billy Kidd Beaten

ADELBODEN, Switzerland (AP) — France's Jean-Claude Killy edged U.S. Olympian Billy Kidd of Stowe, Vt., for first place Sunday in the opening giant slalom race of the Adelboden international ski series.

Killy flashed down the difficult 1,610-meter course in 1 minute, 46.69 seconds to 1:47.73 for Kidd.

Results in the Yerger Tournament

By CALVIN MULROW
In the final stages of the Yerger Invitational Tournament, Gurdon took all honors in the senior boys competition. They were proud winners of the first place trophy Saturday night in the finals of the Tournament.

Gurdon came about this as they came from the bottom to the top to meet McRae of Prescott. McRae, in the semifinals, won over Yerger by one point to put them out of the running. The score was 62-61.

Gurdon came out on the floor and got a 14 point lead over McRae. The end of first quarter, the score was 18-4.

Even though McRae put everything they had into the game in the 2nd, 3rd, and 4th quarters Gurdon stayed in front and at the end of the game the score was Gurdon 55, McRae 31.

Okolona won out in the senior girls competition after defeating McRae's girls 21-18 to get in the finals to meet Yerger.

In the first quarter of the game between Okolona and Yerger, but Carol Worton in the fourth period started popping net to put them out in front to win the trophy.

The Junior Boys contest was also won by Okolona as they ran over the baby Tigers of McRae 42-25.

Okolona came out and executed plays which baffled the mind of Baby Tigers and led them to victory.

McRae was lead on by a little Al, giant who scored the highest number of points in that game for one player.

And that's the way it was in the finals of Yerger Invitational Tournament.

The preliminaries and semifinals went like this: Junior Boys — Gurdon 26-Okolona 39, McRae 82-Arkadelphia 21, Okolona 41-Yerger 15, Carver of Greenville, Texas 13-McRae 48.

Senior Girls — Okolona 31-McRae 18.
Senior Boys — Carver 37-Gurdon 60, Malvern 62-Arkadelphia 31, McRae 82-Okolona 61, Malvern 22-Gurdon 49, Yerger 61, McRae 62.

The Guernsey Blue Devils went to Bodcaw Friday night and returned home with two wins in three games. The Guernsey Junior girls suffered the only loss of the night by a 45 to 27 decision. Adams had 22 points and B. Miller 18.

The Junior boys outscored Bodcaw 54 to 17 in a runaway. Hoover had 10 for the losers while Griffin, McKamie and McRoy had 9 each.

Guernsey Senior boys came out on top of Bodcaw 75 to 32. McIver tossed in 19 while Matlerly had 12 for the Badgers.

Tuesday, Guernsey hosts two Hope teams.

Bobcats Are Stunned by Smackover

By LARRY DON WRIGHT
Hope Star Sportswriter
Hope Star Sportswriter

The Bobcats were stunned Saturday night by the quickness and defensive play of the Smackover Buckaroos as they fell 54-45, for their second consecutive loss against no wins in district action.

Things were extremely close throughout the first half. But then in the third period the Bucks began to mount a lead which rose to 7 points before Hope was able to come up from behind to within a single point in the waning seconds of the quarter.

However the final quarter told the story as Smackover built a substantial lead while the Bobcats tried vainly to score.

The entire game could be stated in a nutshell using the same words that described Friday night's affair with Fairview.

The Bobcats were off in their shooting. In fact all in all it was probably the coldest week end shooting that local fans can remember a Bobcat five having in a long while.

Of course there are sometimes other reasons for an off game than just being unable to hit the basket. When a player has a fast little guard with everywhere he goes or a tall post man in his face all night he meets with considerable difficulty in scoring.

And that's just the kind of defense Smackover and Fairview employed.

The Bucks were able to work the ball in closer through Hope's to do when they got the ball. Therefore a difference in the team percentages from the field.

At any rate the first weekend of conference play has left the Bobcats with a record of 0-2. On the cellar in the district standings Coach Billy Mitchell's Cats will have to work extra hard in the coming weeks to live up to their preseason favorite's role in District 4AA.

Dennis Ramsey was high for both teams with 19 points. Bobby McGill had 1, Ronnie Ingram 7, Eddie Aslin 5, and Larry May 4.

Hometown Honors Twins Manager

QUINCY, Mass. (AP) — A hometown dinner honoring Manager Sam Mele of the Minnesota Twins has been postponed because of his illness.

A spokesman said that the dinner, originally set for Tuesday night, will be held next month if Mele's health permits.

Mele is confined to Peter Bent Brigham Hospital in nearby Boston for treatment of phlebitis in his right leg. He entered the hospital last Friday when his leg swelled.

Rupp Seems to Have Another Fine Cage Crop

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Adolph Rupp, an official of the Agricultural Hall of Fame, has raised another blue ribbon basketball crop.

The nation's winningest active coach, Rupp suffered the worst season in his 35 years at Kentucky last winter when the Wildcats compiled a 15-10 record, marking the first time they ever had lost 10 games under Rupp.

They weren't given much of a chance to do any better this year, but Rupp suddenly finds himself with a squad that has sprouted into the nation's second-ranked team with 10 victories and remains one of only two undefeated major teams.

Rupp's skills, however, do not stop a raising pedigree basketball players.

The 64-year-old Kansas native has one of the largest farms in the Kentucky area, serves on the board of governors of the Agricultural Hall of Fame and National Agricultural Center and is in his 13th term as president of the Kentucky Hereford Association.

He also is in his 36th year as Kentucky coach, and for the ninth time the Wildcats have won their first 10 games of the season.

Rupp has done it this time with only two seniors on his starting five — Tommy Kron and Larry Conley. The other three, sophomore Thad Jaracz and juniors Pat Riley and Lou Dampier, are the big scorers on the team.

Jaracz scored 26 points Saturday night as the Wildcats made Florida their 10th victim. They'll try to make it 11 tonight in a Southeastern Conference game with Georgia, then rest until Saturday when they take on their toughest opponent so far, third-ranked Vanderbilt.

The Commodores, led by Clyde Lee's 22 points, increased their record to 12-1 Saturday by whipping Georgia 77-63. Lee's performance gave him 1,409 career points, most ever for a Vanderbilt player. Before facing Kentucky, the Commodores play Mississippi tonight and Tennessee Wednesday.

Duke, No. 1, also is busy this week, taking on Clemson Tuesday, Maryland Thursday and Wake Forest Saturday. The Blue Devils brought their record to 11-1, downing North Carolina 88-77 as Bob Verga tossed in 29 points and Jack Marin 23.

Four other members of the Top Ten won Saturday while seventh-ranked Iowa dropped a 69-68 decision at Wisconsin. Providence, No. 6 and unbeaten Texas Western, No. 9, didn't play.

Fourth-ranked St. Joseph's, 10-2, trampled LaSalle 82-69. No. 5 Bradley, 13-1, downed Drake 64-52; eighth-ranked Brigham Young, 10-1, stopped Arizona 87-72 and No. 10 UCLA, 9-3, walloped Oregon 97-65.

He Shudders Over That Silent Vote

By JOHN R. STARR Associated Press Writer JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Lee Ward of Jonesboro must shudder when politicians talk about the silent vote.

The silent vote was supposed to have put Ward into the governor's chair in 1958.

When it spoke, it spoke for Gov. Orval E. Faubus and the governor won a third term with 70 per cent of the total vote. Ward finished third in what turned out to be a one-man race.

Two years later, Ward was defeated two to one in his bid for a second term as 12th District chancellor. He dropped out of politics.

Now he is back as a candidate against Rep. E. C. Gathings, D-Ark., in the 12th Congressional District. Despite two consecutive defeats, he is the strongest opponent Gathings has faced in more than a decade.

For Ward has been busy for several years mending political fences. He had some formidable ones before they fell in shambles in 1958.

Ward nailed the last plank back in place Oct. 12, 1964, when he went on statewide television and radio to endorse Faubus in the governor's race against Winthrop Rockefeller.

"I'm supporting Democratic candidates from President Johnson down to the local constable," he said.

And he did not stop there. "Observation has convinced me," he added, "that Gov. Faubus tries to find out what the people want in government and he gives you what a majority want."

This was the same man who six years earlier called Faubus a "dedicated demagogue" and a "fence straddler on the race issue" who was trying to build "an invincible political machine to perpetuate his personal power."

Ward attacked Faubus for using National Guard troops to block desegregation of Little Rock Central High School. He had himself disagreed with the U. S. Supreme Court's desegregation decision but he said that was a vast difference between "disagreement and defiance."

He rebuked Faubus for refusing to declare himself an integrationist or a segregationist and said: "Whether you refer to my personal attitude as prejudice, bias, narrowmindedness or stubbornness, the fact remains that I prefer segregation."

Now he proposes, if elected to Congress, to hire a Negro on his personal staff. He said such representation for the Negro race was long overdue.

It was a move that was sure to get him talked about. Getting himself talked about is a political trademark with Ward.

Shortly after his discharge from the Navy in 1946, while he was still a struggling young attorney at Benton, he sued the federal government for $6,500, the difference, he said, between what the Navy paid him and what he was worth.

The suit was not successful, but it made headlines. He then undertook a study of communism and made a series of speeches about the Red menace. More headlines.

Ward had moved, in the meantime, to Paragould. He ran unsuccessfully for city attorney there in 1948, the year after he arrived, and again in 1951.

He was elected chancellor in his first major race in 1954. Two years later he ran his first statewide race, polling 86,996 votes in a contest for chief justice of the Arkansas Supreme Court and finishing just 12,449 votes behind the winner, Carleton Harris.

The stage was thus set for 1958: Faubus scared off several potential candidates. Only Ward and the late Chris Finkbeiner, a Little Rock businessman, dared oppose him.

Ward went down fighting, although many of his supporters must have realized early in the campaign that he could not win. Faubus was drawing the crowds, Faubus was getting the support from key individuals and organizations.

That's when Ward's backers began talking about the silent vote. It came then heart in the closing days of a vicious campaign.

And Ward must have realized two years later that residual animosity from Faubus supporters would defeat his bid for re-election to the judgeship.

He said in one of his campaign statements, "If and when the voters decide to replace me (as chancellor), I shall return to the private practice of law."

He did, but at Jonesboro, not at Paragould. Jonesboro became the fourth home town he has known as an adult. If a brief residency at Little Rock, while he was attending law school, is counted.

Ward is still in his "home" area. He was born near Greenway in Clay County Dec. 13, 1906.

Twelve years later he became the first resident of his community and the first member of his family to be graduated from high school. He attended Piggett High School on encouragement from the principal, who had seen a poem written by young Ward and published in the Piggett Banner.

Ward then worked his way through college in St. Louis, occupying his leisure time with

John Unitas Has No. 1 Football Fan

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — This is a love story about a little girl and a famous football player.

The girl is 11-year-old Teresa Arlosa. The football player is John Unitas, quarterback for the Baltimore Colts.

Teresa is deaf and suffers from cerebral palsy and aphasia. Her foremost interest in life is John Unitas.

A letter written to John Steadman, sports editor of the Baltimore News-American, by Teresa's mother, Mrs. Joseph Arlosa of suburban Lutherville, explained how it began.

"Their love affair started the summer after John had directed the Colts in the greatest football game every played (the game in 1958 in which the Colts won the NFL title by defeating the New York Giants 23-17 in a sudden death playoff). At that time, the Parents League for Aphasic Youngsters held a carnival at Eastpoint in the hopes of raising enough money to start a summer program for the children.

"John was on top of the world then and he could have demanded any price for a personal appearance, but, in true Unitas fashion, he donated an hour of his time to sell tickets for us in the blazing sun.

"Most of the time, John held little Teresa on his lap. It was love at first sight and since then Teresa has been John's No. 1 fan club. Despite the fact that it took three years for Teresa to learn to bowl a tenpin ball, she never gave up. After all, it was John's lane.

"Although no one has ever told her just what a forward pass is, she knows John's passing percentage. Once she finally mastered using a pair of scissors, she saved every magazine piece that had even a tiny picture of John in it.

"At the Maryland School for the Deaf, which Teresa attends, the other girls have pictures of the Beatles, movie stars and the like. Teresa has a picture of John.

"The odd part is this love doesn't have to be fed. Teresa just goes right on loving. When John comes on TV, she alternately screams in joy, rolls on the floor or kisses the screen.

"How does John feel about all this? Well...in a room full of people, John will always find his way to Teresa and hug her.

"If he sees her in church, he makes a point to sit near her. If he sees us without Teresa, he always says to send his love. Last year, he wrote her a letter.

"All this for a little girl who may never buy a ticket, who can't even sing his praises, except with her eyes, and who has nothing to offer but love."

How State Cage Teams Are Ranked

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A pair of once-beaten Class AAA teams and an undefeated AA team fought it out for the top spot in the associated Press High School Basketball poll this week, and Little Rock Central came out the winner.

The Tigers, who lost an early season game to Fort Smith Southside, were No. 1 for the second week.

The unbeaten Harrison Goblines edged past third-place North Little Rock this week, giving the AA team its highest rating of the season. North Little Rock was voted No. 1 in the first two polls, but fell after Central topped the Wildcats in a tournament game.

Others in the top ten, from fourth down, were Pine Bluff, Mountain Home, Fort Smith Southside, Paragould, Mabelvale, McClellan, White Hall and El Dorado.

Pine Bluff and Mountain Home joined Central as the only teams holding the same spot as last week.

Sixth-place Southside moved up one notch, Paragould moved from ninth to seventh, McClellan moved up two spots to eighth, White Hall dropped three places to ninth (after McClellan took a 70-67 victory Saturday night) and El Dorado fell two spots to tenth.

Harrison got more first-place votes than Central, 4-3, but the

When Julius Rosenblum of New Orleans, the nonplaying captain of North America's 1966 team for the world's championship, starts to pick his lineup for the various matches he will have a tough problem. In other years there was always a weak spot on the team. This year his three pairs are so good that he will have a time figuring which one to leave out.

Ira Rubin of New Jersey, and Philip Feldman of New York who finished first in the trials are deadly in competitive situations. Lew Mathe and Bob Hamman of Los Angeles are sound in bidding and brilliant in their play of the cards.

This really representative North American team is completed by two Canadians, Eric Murray and Sammy Kehela of Toronto.

We will devote several articles to hands from the trials in which these pairs made the team and we will start with an ambitious slam bid by Murray and Kehela in their first match.

The key bid on the way was Eric Murray's jump to four spades. Kehela needed no further encouragement and merely used Blackwood to make sure that there were enough aces for six and not enough for seven.

Sammy won the second diamond with his king and led a spade toward dummy. When West produced the queen, things looked really promising. Sammy ran off four rounds of trumps and cashed dummy's ace and king of clubs. When both opponents followed to the second club, Sammy used his last under the influence of liquor. The court decided this was indeed "wilful and malicious" conduct—and not even bankruptcy could save him from responsibility for it.

Most often, such questions arise out of auto accidents. But any kind of wilful and malicious act may put the offender beyond the relief of bankruptcy. Consider these cases:

A cantankerous home owner, to scare away some boys, fired at them with an air gun, injuring one in the eye;

A disgruntled boy friend spread slanderous stories about a girl's reputation;

The owner of a dog known to be vicious let it run loose on the streets, where it attacked a passing pedestrian.

In each case, after a judgment for damages, the offender went into bankruptcy in hopes of "getting out from under." But in each case, even after bankruptcy, he was held still liable for the wilful and malicious harm he had done.

A keynote of the Bankruptcy Act is sympathy for the hapless debtor. But, in the wilful-and-malicious cases, the law's sympathy is dampened by behavior that is not just foolish but wrongful.

Besides, the law owes consideration not only to the debtor but also to the person who has been run down, shot, slandered, or bitten.

Something old, something new—that's the situation in the National Basketball Association as the league pauses for its annual All-Star Game break.

Boston's Red Auerbach is the coach of the East in Tuesday night's game and his star center, Bill Russell, is a member of the team—old.

Boston is not dominating the Eastern Division, in fact the Celtics are being severely pressed—new.

Sure the Celtics are in first place but only by one game over Cincinnati. Last year at the All-Star break, the defending champions led the Royals by seven games.

Both the Celtics and the Royals were idle Sunday after winning Saturday, Boston by 124-96 over San Francisco and Cincinnati by 126-115 over Baltimore.

In Sunday's action, all afternoon games, Philadelphia defeated St. Louis 127-117, Los Angeles downed Detroit 111-98 and Baltimore edged New York 130-124.

In other Saturday games, St. Louis upended Philadelphia 115-106 and New York beat Los Angeles 133-127.

Johnson Is Spark for South Win

By RON SPEER Associated Press Sports Writer MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Randy Johnson is a 20-20 passer with an equally sharp sense of humor.

The Texas A&I quarterback has played in two All-Star football games and hit 20 passes in each.

He connected on 20 of 33 for 308 yards and led the South to a 23-19 victory in the Blue-Gray game two weeks ago, and Saturday hit on 20 of 33 for 188 yards and fired the South to a 27-18 conquest of the North in the Senior Bowl.

"I am really looking forward to playing professional football," Johnson said. "I'm moving to Atlanta and going to finish school there and work with the Falcons."

Johnson was the Falcons' second draft choice, and was given a contract worth an estimated $100,000.

One of his rivals with the Falcons of the National Football League will be Steve Sloan, Alabama quarterback who was unable to play in the Senior Bowl because of a rib injury.

Sloan and Johnson were roommates all of last week during practice for the game, when Sloan was still undecided about his professional plans.

Numerous telephone calls were made to Sloan from representatives of the New York Jets and the Falcons, in addition to friends and fans from Alabama.

By the end of the week, Johnson was answering the telephone with this remark:

"Steve Sloan's answering service. Steve's not here now."

Sloan finally signed with the Falcons two hours before the game, for an estimated $100,000.

His only contribution in the Senior Bowl was on place kicks, where he held the ball for the kicker.

"Steve was willing to play, but his ribs were really hurting him, and I did not want to use him," said Weeb Ewbank, coach of the AFL Jets, who scored his fourth victory in the Senior Bowl.

Ewbank, whose South team wiped out an 11-point halftime deficit, praised Johnson as a "very fine passer, and a real tough football player."

American Wins His 3rd Title

PERTH, Australia (AP) — U.S. Davis Cupper Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., won his third title on the Australian tennis circuit Sunday by defeating fellow American Cliff Richey for the Wes Australian championship.

Ashe, who earlier had beaten Australian Roy Emerson for the Queensland and South Australian crowns, took Richey, of Dallas, Tex. 3-6, 6-2, 6-3, 6-4.

son off to an auspicious start, thanks to a man with an aching back.

Veteran John Pimmel pole vaulted 16 feet, 7 inches Saturday night as the final competitor in the third annual Examiner Invitational meet to erase the 16-6 record set last year by Billy Pemellon.

The 25-year-old AAU champion, who says a chronic back ailment continues to give him trouble, cleared the height on his third try to the full attention of the Cow Palace audience since all other events had been completed.

Although he sailed over the bar with height to spare at 16-7 1/2, he missed three times going at 16-9 in a bid to surpass the world's best—a 16-8 3/4 effort in 1963 by Finland's Pentti Nikula.

Two Kansans with speed and stamina highlighted the running event's. Nineteen-year-old Jim Ryft won the mile in 4:02.1, eclipsing 3.5 seconds off the Cow Palace record, and John Lawson upset Gerry Lindgren in the two-mile with 8:40.4, a meet record.

Ryft led most of the way. Despite a heavy cold, he had enough left to run back the challenge of England's John Whetton, who ran the fastest indoor mile ever by a Briton, 4:02.5.

Lawson, 22, runnerup in the NCAA three-mile last summer, let Lindgren set the pace and then flashed past the 19-year-old Olympian from Washington State with one and one-half laps left. Lindgren finished 15 yards back in 8:42.8.

Ferry O'Brien ended a year's absence from the shot put ring with a victory at 62-3 at the event introduced as "the man who did for shot putting what Orville Wright did for flying."

O'Brien, now 34, was the first to put the shot 60 feet and won his first Olympic title in 1952.

A LAYMAN'S CRITIQUE NEW YORK (AP) — Hesitancy of Roman Catholic laymen to voice their religious views freely is what Edward M. Keating terms "The Scandal of Silence," the title of his new book, published by Random House. A Catholic layman himself, Keating says:

Wants Pros to Hold Off on Drafting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Intense competition between the major professional football leagues is "perpetuating a disruptive influence" on the college game, says a leading college coach. He predicts the pros will again be asked to hold off their drafts until after the Jan. bowl games.

"We won't be satisfied until they push their drafts beyond the New Year's Bowl games," said Jim Corbett, athletic director at Louisiana State University and chairman of the Collegiate Professional Relations Committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

When Bankruptcy Won't Help

Motorist A, held liable for an accident, was ordered to pay more than his insurance coverage, more than everything he owned. In desperation, he decided to go through bankruptcy. Although this left him poor, at least he was relieved of his overwhelming burden of debt.

Motorist B, in a similar predicament, also tried bankruptcy. But in his case, that didn't help. Even after going through bankruptcy, liability for the accident still hung over him as heavily as before.

The difference in these two cases illustrates an important provision of the Bankruptcy Act. Bankruptcy does cancel most debts, but not all. One debt it does not cancel is liability for "wilful and malicious" injuries inflicted on others.

When Julius Rosenblum of New Orleans, the nonplaying captain of North America's 1966 team for the world's championship, starts to pick his lineup for the various matches he will have a tough problem. In other years there was always a weak spot on the team. This year his three pairs are so good that he will have a time figuring which one to leave out.

Ira Rubin of New Jersey, and Philip Feldman of New York who finished first in the trials are deadly in competitive situations. Lew Mathe and Bob Hamman of Los Angeles are sound in bidding and brilliant in their play of the cards.

This really representative North American team is completed by two Canadians, Eric Murray and Sammy Kehela of Toronto.

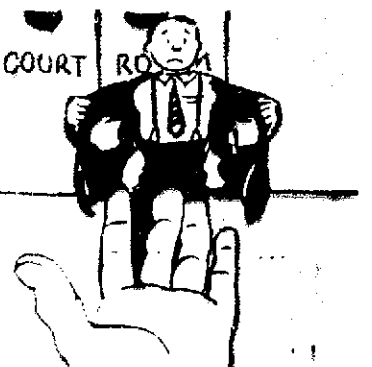

We will devote several articles to hands from the trials in which these pairs made the team and we will start with an ambitious slam bid by Murray and Kehela in their first match.

The key bid on the way was Eric Murray's jump to four spades. Kehela needed no further encouragement and merely used Blackwood to make sure that there were enough aces for six and not enough for seven.

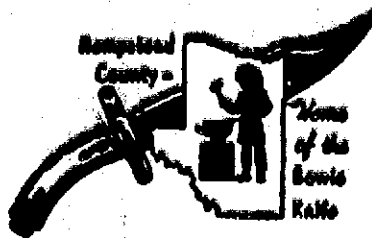

Sammy won the second diamond with his king and led a spade toward dummy. When West produced the queen, things looked really promising. Sammy ran off four rounds of trumps and cashed dummy's ace and king of clubs. When both opponents followed to the second club, Sammy used his last

Motorist A had caused his accident by driving a bit too fast. The court held this was not "wilful and malicious."

Motorist B had been driving at high speed during a storm, on the wrong side of the road, while

Notes on Our Progress in Offset Process

With three editions in offset printing behind us — the test run of Dec. 29, and last Friday's and Saturday's issues when we made the switch permanently — we feel we are over the hump in this difficult transition from the old tried-and-true to a strange and complicated process.

Writing about our problems last Friday I noted the bad reproduction of local pictures in the test edition of Dec. 29 and advised we were trying a different technique with the local pictures to be printed Friday. Well, our move was successful, as you know from Friday's printed product. Photographs in offset normally require the double-negative system — a big clear "line negative" for the newspaper page, with "screen-negatives" inserted for the photos. In the Dec. 29 issue our screen work didn't match the line work, and the local pictures printed dark.

But for last Friday we put the screen on the prints instead of the negatives, included the prints on the pasteup and shot each page as a "line negative" — with excellent results. We've still got to learn the double-negative system, but meanwhile we have developed a bread-and-butter substitute.

That's just one of our problems. Another is the rearrangement of features on the various pages to suit the production schedule of the big camera and the press plate-making department. With a rotary offset press two pages go on each press plate. Therefore a single page negative is a dead dog. You have to have two before you can make a plate.

The matched pairs of pages line up this way: If your edition totals 8 pages, your magic figure is one more — 9. Matching pages always add up to 9. Like this: 1 and 8; 2 and 7; 3 and 6; 4 and 5. Whatever the number of an edition's pages, the magic figure is always one more than the total.

But the Weather report has been running on Page 2, for which the matching page is 7, carrying the cartoons. But 7 is the very first page ready for the camera, while Page 2 may be delayed until 2 p.m. if the AP Wirephoto overnight mail package from Dallas misses connections. So we will have to change the Weather to another page, allowing Page 2 to go down early along with the comics on Page 7.

Things like this, plus the fact that the factory engineer is still here working on the new press, help to account for our lateness in getting the paper out. For the moment The Star doesn't control its production schedule, but the schedule is improving nevertheless.

Our first edition in offset Dec. 29 got out at midnight.

Last Friday, when we switched to offset permanently, we went to press at 8:30 p.m.

Saturday we got off at 12 noon. And we are going to do our level best to get out today by late afternoon.

Basically, offset is easier to get out than letterpress — and we'll get onto it shortly.

The results are worth it — early or late. The AP Picture Show of the great masters' paintings on Page 2 last Saturday was the finest piece of printing this writer has ever seen in a newspaper.

We'll print more features and more pages in offset than we ever printed in letterpress. This is by way of assurance to some grumpy subscribers who observed that we left out the crossword puzzle Friday and Saturday.

We plumb forgot it. The Star staff had other problems besides double-checking on features.

But Managing Editor Paul H. Jones, who also has some friends with an addiction to the puzzle, says you can bet it will be in today's edition — and from now on.

Wants a Quick Decision on the Bombings

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman L. Mendel Rivers of the House Armed Services Committee said today "an early decision must be reached" on ending the pause in bombing North Viet Nam targets. Two key House Republicans agreed.

"I don't see any reason to continue to keep giving them this respite," said Rivers, a South Carolina Democrat, in an interview as the 89th Congress reconvened here. "They're not entitled to this holiday."

U.S. planes have not bombed North Viet Nam since before a 30-hour Christmas truce as part of President Johnson's efforts to convince Hanoi of U.S. sincerity in seeking a negotiated settlement of the Vietnamese war.

Although he emphasized he supported the President's peace efforts, Rivers said "the American people want to win this thing or get out."

He added: "I feel that a few well-placed bombs on military targets in North Viet Nam that have been heretofore spared — undeserved sanctuaries in Hanoi, Haiphong and other places — would make (North Vietnamese President) Ho Chi Minh reach an early decision. The American people feel he has been given enough time."

Rivers said his committee would meet Tuesday to map plans for the new congressional session.

His views on resuming bombing of North Viet Nam, similar to those expressed Saturday by the chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, Richard B. Russell of Georgia, were echoed in separate interviews by Rep. Lesau G. Arends of Illinois, assistant house GOP leader, and Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, senior GOP member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Estimates the Average Girl Kisses Some 74 Lads Before She Finds One She Marries

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail: It has been estimated that the average girl kisses 74 lads before she finds the one she marries. But to reach that score she must have played "post office" at a lot of birthday parties during her school days.

The U.S. farmer is one of the world's most efficient manufacturers. He now grows enough food each year to feed 31 people, five of whom live in impoverished foreign countries and are fed practically free on Uncle Sam's bounty.

Your body is a busy factory. It has some 30 trillion red blood cells, each of which lives about four months. Your bone marrow has to produce 10 billion of them every hour to keep you healthy.

Musicians say more songs probably have been written about Franklin D. Roosevelt than any other man in modern times. There are more than 100 listed.

Creeper: Some safety experts rate highway slowpokes as more dangerous than speeders and perhaps even than drinking drivers. They say that cars traveling at 20 miles below average highway speed are involved in twice as many accidents as those going 20 miles faster than average speed.

Tiny but still mighty: Britain's 52,710,000 people make up less than two per cent of the world's inhabitants and occupy only about a fifth of one per cent of earth's land area. But they produce one sixth of the world's exports and handle 10 per cent of its international shipping.

The U.S. Air Force reportedly is developing a machine that can learn from its own mistakes. If it succeeds, this probably will be the machine's final victory over man.

The teabag is an historical accident. In 1904, a New York merchant bagged small samples of his tea and sent them to prospective customers. They soon found tea could be conveniently brewed by simply dunking the bags in boiling water — and a new industry was born.

New Surge of Cold Air Coming

ARKANSAS WEATHER

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A new surge of cold air is moving over the mid-south, the U.S. Weather Bureau says, and by night-fall will have spread over all of the area.

The new front, however, will not be as sharp as the cold front Arkansas experienced a few days ago. Temperatures will be near or slightly below those of Sunday.

Unlawful Trip Made to Viet Nam

NEW YORK (AP) — Yale Prof. Staughton Lynd, who made an unauthorized 10-day trip with two others to North Viet Nam, says conversations there convinced him "that many ingredients of an honorable solution exist."

Lynd and Thomas Hayden, a founder of the Students for a Democratic Society, joined in that statement at a news conference as they arrived at Kennedy Airport Sunday night.

They said North Viet Nam and the Communist-led National Liberation Front (Viet Cong) in South Viet Nam require as a condition for negotiations "an unambiguous decision" by the United States to withdraw its troops from Viet Nam.

However, the statement said, they appear willing to offer the United States "considerable freedom in choosing how to demonstrate by concrete steps that this decision has been made."

The statement said the Hanoi regime doubts the sincerity of U.S. peace efforts and questions U.S. aims in South Viet Nam.

The trio defied a State Department ban on travel to North Viet Nam, and could be jailed for five years or fined $5,000 for going without government permission. The government has not made known what action, if any it will take.

Worth remembering: "The reason a dollar won't do as much for people as it once did is that people won't do as much for a dollar as they once did."

Robinson Retires From High Court

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Justice Sam Robinson, 66, retired from the Arkansas Supreme Court today after 15 years of service. Robinson was eulogized during a 30-minute ceremony at the court's regular Monday morning meeting. Gov. Orval E. Faubus and the man he has appointed to replace Robinson, Osro Cobb, were among about 150 persons who attended.

No Progress in Transit Strike Negotiations

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay drove bone-weary negotiators and a crack mediation team through night-long talks aimed at getting subways and buses rolling today.

New York's massive strike moved into its 10th day with these developments:

—Low temperatures piled added misery upon tens of thousands of commuters forced to walk the windswept bridges into Manhattan.

—Traffic experts invoked new emergency rules to speed the flow of nearly 800,000 cars, a street-choking mess.

—The Transport Workers Union called for a mass picketing demonstration at City Hall.

—Shopkeepers in crisis surged in small-business loan centers authorized by President Johnson.

—Leaders in Harlem and other poverty areas organized car pools to transport workers unable to pay cab fares.

—The Transit Authority resumed its court effort to collect $322,000 a day in damages from the union.

In an extraordinary move, Lindsay moved the negotiations late Sunday afternoon from their midtown hotel site to City Hall. He stressed that the move did not mean that an immediate settlement was in the wind.

The new traffic emergency measures include more parking facilities and the reversing of bridge and tunnel lanes to cope with the crush during the morning rush hour into Manhattan.

Police also have asked the courts to make parking violations much more costly. Officials have noted that, even after an agreement is reached, it would require 12 hours to get the subways and buses fully restored to service. Partial service could be restored to the subways in four to five hours, and bus service in just one hour.

Court Airs Dispute of 2 Judges

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court today issued its formal opinion in its settlement of a dispute between two judges in the 5th Judicial Circuit and suggested that the judges try to work together in the future.

The opinion involved an argument between Circuit Judge Wiley W. Bean of Clarksville and Circuit Judge Russell C. Roberts of Conway over the holding of court in Johnson County.

Bean has scheduled a regular term of court to start Feb. 7. Roberts subsequently recessed his term of court until Jan. 17 and Bean asked the Supreme Court to stop Roberts from holding trials at that time because of the possibility of interference with the session scheduled to start Feb. 7.

Roberts, on the other hand, asked the Supreme Court to dissolve an injunction that Bean had issued to keep Johnson County officials from establishing a jury panel for the Jan. 17 court session.

The Supreme Court, in an order issued Dec. 20, refused to interfere with Roberts' plans to hold court and dissolved the injunction Bean had issued.

The opinion issued today was in support of the Dec. 20 order.

Discussing the possibility that the Jan. 17 term of court might extend over and interfere with the February term, the court said, "this point brings us to the observation that judges of equal and coordinate courts should—and we feel sure they will—show proper comity to each other and each will practice the judicial restraint essential to the 'wearers of the ermine.'"

"We feel sure that Judge Roberts will recess his court so that Judge Bean will have the facilities of the court room for statute," the court said.

Police Report Two Accidents

Two weekend accidents were reported by City Police, one resulting in a DWI charge.

Yesterday downtown on Second Street a car driven by Fred Sutton ran into the back of a car owned by Cecil Sprague, Jr. Heavy damage resulted. Officers Sinyard and Shirley charged Sutton with driving while intoxicated and failure to have a driver's license.

West on Highway 67 an auto driven by Forrest Ross ran into the rear of another driven by Arlie Hickman, causing considerable damage. Officers Sinyard and Shirley investigated.

Vaccinations for School Ruled Legal

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court today reaffirmed its ruling that the state has a right to require vaccination of school children.

The ruling came in a case involving the DeWitt School District and Roy Mannis, minor son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Mannis of near DeWitt.

The child and his parents are members of a religious denomination known as The General Assembly and Church of the First Born, which believes that vaccination is against the will of God.

After the Supreme Court held earlier that vaccination was required, some church members formed a private, parochial school and young Mannis was enrolled in it. The parents then contended that the state could not require vaccination of parochial school students.

The school district, working with the prosecuting attorney, filed suit to have the young Mannis declared a neglected child which would enable the state to take him from his parents temporarily, have him vaccinated and enrolled in school.

Says Poverty War Can't Be Reduced

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The war on poverty is too broad to be reduced, despite the cost of the Viet Nam war, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz told the Little Rock Typographical Union Local 92 Saturday night.

"When we declare war on poverty, or anything else, we mean to win," Wirtz said.

About $17.7 billion will be spent by the federal government during fiscal 1965-66 to help the poor, Wirtz said, and such expenditures have increased by almost $5 billion in the past three years.

Great Society programs have helped cut the unemployment rate to 4.1 per cent, he told union members at their 100th anniversary dinner. Without the federal programs, the unemployment rate would be closer to 5 per cent, he said.

All Around Town

The local Health Department issued the following: "The Public Health Service urges the public to avoid the use of small plastic water-filled cubes, balls, or units in the form of elephants which are used for cooling drinks and are made in Hong Kong. Laboratory examination of many samples of these novelties sold in the U. S. in recent months have shown that the water inside the balls, which often leaks out of the plastic, is contaminated in enough cases to be a potential health hazard."

89th Congress Starts Second Session Today

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 89th Congress begins its second session today in an atmosphere of political and economic tension as it awaits President Johnson's Wednesday night report on the state of the war in Viet Nam.

Leaders scheduled routine sessions of both houses, beginning at noon, Eastern Standard Time. The appointment of committees to notify the President of their convening and the swearing in of new members was to be the principal business.

What Johnson has to say in his State of the Union address Wednesday night about his efforts to generate Viet Nam peace negotiations — and the impact on his "Great Society" — is intensified — will set the tone program if they fail and the war for the 1966 session.

There is some doubt that Johnson can forecast at this point what turn the Viet Nam situation may take.

It is generally assumed in Congress that the pause in the bombing of North Viet Nam targets will continue at least through Jan. 24. This would represent a 30-day lull coinciding with the end of any Vietnamese New Year cease-fire which might occur.

Then Johnson would face the hard decision on whether to step up hostilities if the Communists have given no sign that they are willing to start peace talks.

While Congress has an array of left-over issues pending and Johnson may suggest a limited number of new proposals, all are overshadowed by the Viet Nam situation.

If, as anticipated, the President asks for an additional $12 billion or $13 billion in war appropriations, there will be bipartisan demands for a cutback in anti-poverty, Appalachian aid and other programs.

The eight were charged with being spectators at a gamecock fight, a misdemeanor. They were released on bond.

Dr. Snow Is Rotary Club Speaker

District Governor SNAKE SNOW gave the Hope Rotary Club a verbal shot in the arm at its weekly meeting on Friday at the Town and Country. His talk, the club's largest attendance, had three points in reference to Rotary — fellowship, knowledge, and inspiration.

Dr. Snow, the President of Arkansas State Teachers College in Conway, has recently returned from an educational trip to Israel, and he told the local club of visits he made to the Holy Land. A single-seat Air Force plane crashed 5 miles north of the club. As a helicopter lifted out the pilot by his gun belt, it broke and he plunged into a river. Apparently he was killed.

Spokesmen confirmed that ground fire had been responsible for two explosions that ripped apart a C130 loaded with 11,000 pounds of ammunition on a flight to Pleiku last Friday. Five men were killed in the crash of the four-engine plane.

Cong Area Is Demolished by Americans

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The largest U.S. fighting force of the Vietnamese war demolished a honeycomb of Viet Cong fortifications on the edge of the Iron Triangle 25 miles northwest of Saigon today, but the Communists ducked the knockout punch.

Most of the guerrillas kept away from the U.S. and Australian troops as they scorched the Communist stronghold on the third day of Operation Crimp.

Australians operating with the 1st Infantry Division and the 173rd Airborne Brigade uncovered a big weapons cache left by the fleeing Communists. The haul included 47 weapons, five of them crew-served, 114 grenades, 15,000 rounds of small-arms ammunition, 58 heavy-mortar rounds, 100 pounds of dynamite, 20 tons of rice and a large store of medical supplies.

There were more than 8,000 men in the Allied force, but U.S. military spokesmen reported only light contact with the enemy, a regiment-sized force thought to be holed up in the 12 square miles of jungle and marshland.

The spokesman reported 22 Viet Cong killed, 38 captured and 269 suspects, mostly women and children detained. Allied casualties were light, they said.

Elsewhere on the ground, U.S. spokesmen reported few contacts with the enemy. But the air war in the South continued unabated with 281 strike missions against Viet Cong targets by Air Force and carrier planes. Four U.S. planes were lost in the past 24 hours.
